

Bounce

Short-term storage on every block of the city, hosted by local businesses.

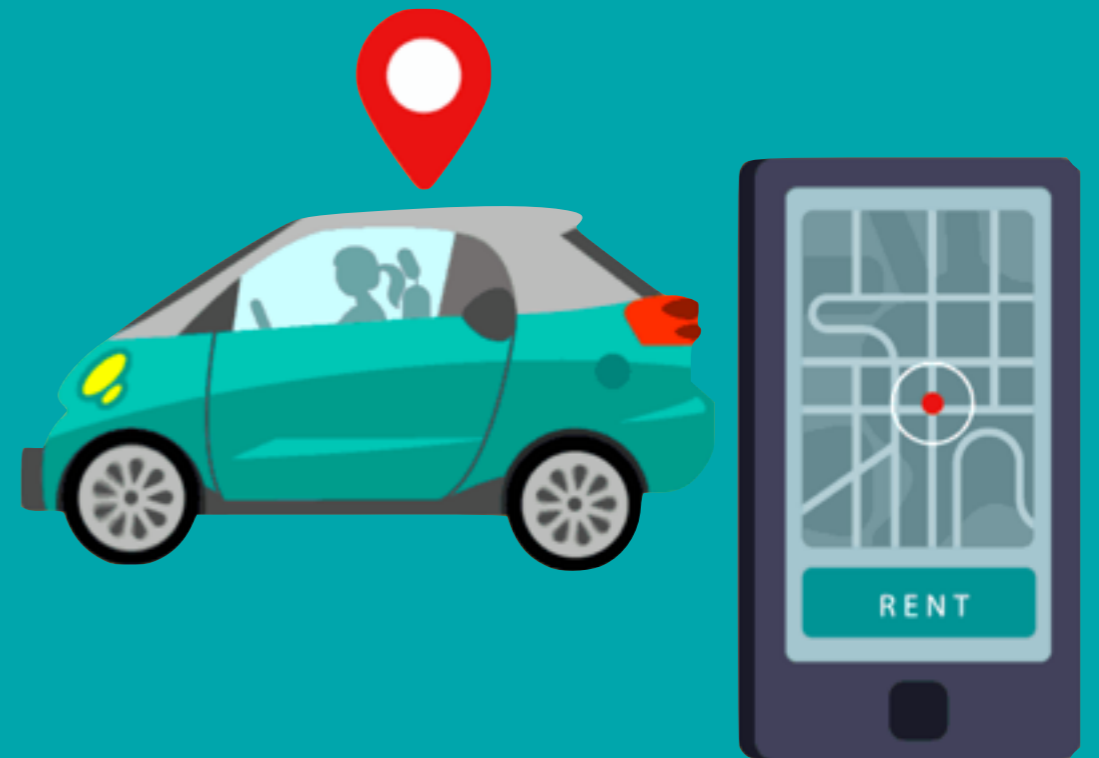

Live Life Light

Access is the new Ownership

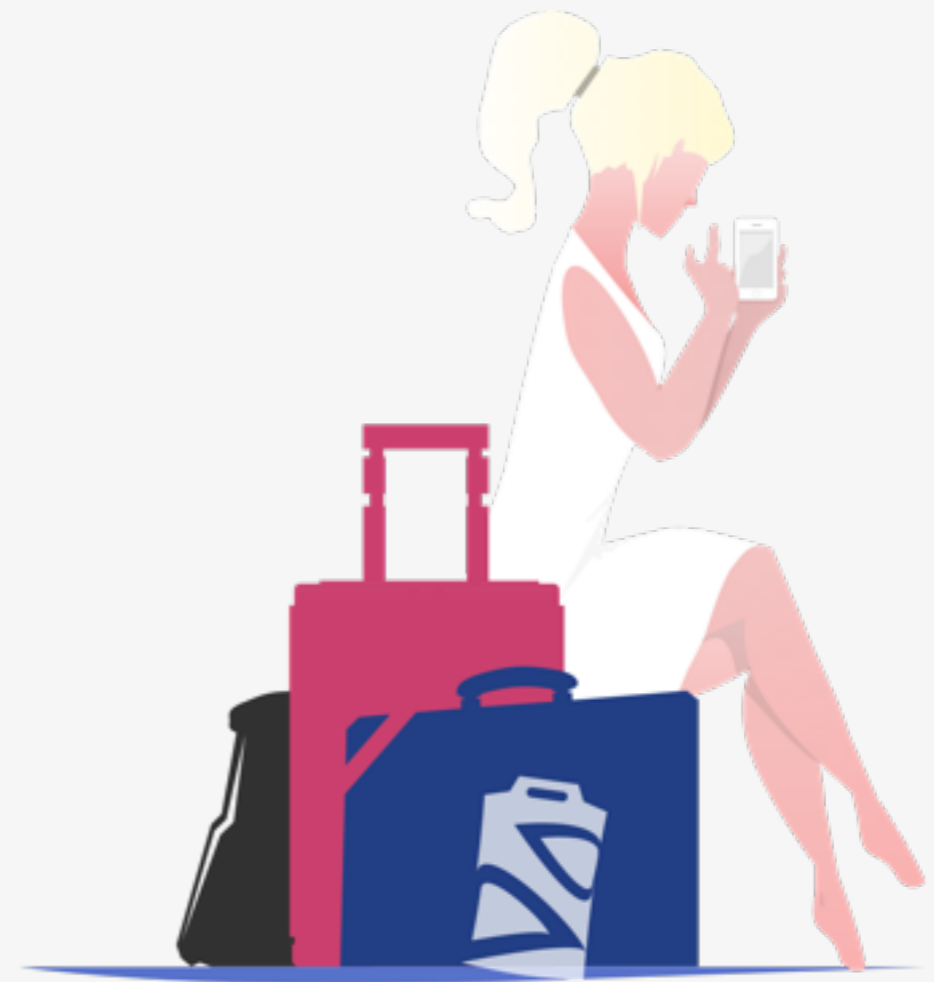

How people think about ownership is completely changing (cars, homes, everything else).

In 10 years, the physical world will look a lot more like the digital world – like cloud computing: You don't care where your things are, just that you'll have immediate and secure access to them.

Dragging things around sucks

People dictate their plans around what they're carrying with them. The average New York commute is 40 minutes each way and people often have to decide between cancelling their plans, schlepping stuff, or going out of their way to drop off their things. This problem is so ubiquitous that people plan their lives around it without even realizing it.

Short-term storage on every block of the city

Bounce matches users with spare storage space at brick & mortar retailers for hourly use or longer.

Drop off right around the corner.

Now

Pick up near home.

Future

Hosted by local businesses

We partner with local businesses to host storage spaces. Brick & mortar stores can get their foot traffic back and earn an extra revenue stream.

Who?

Restaurants, cafes, shipping stores, & gift shops, all vetted for quality.

Why?

They earn commission & extra traffic.

How?

Our tech platform makes check-in/check-out extremely easy.

We never touch an item.

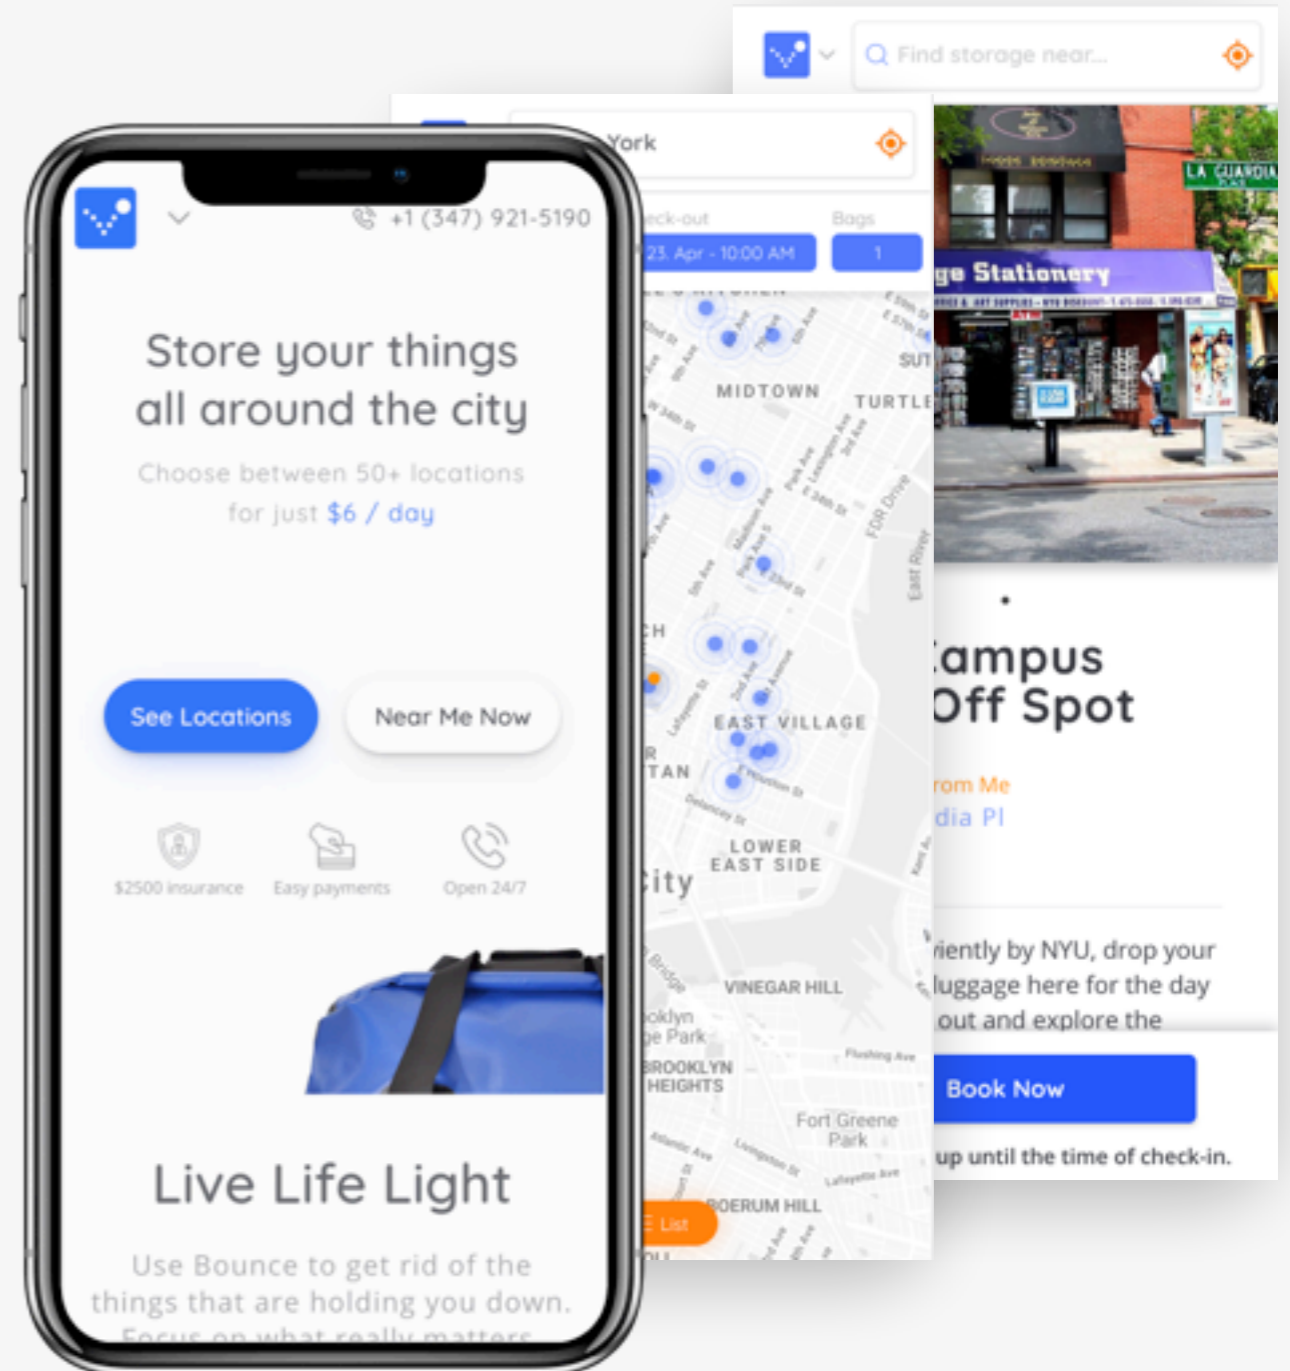

A safe and secure platform for finding and booking space in minutes

$2500 insurance on each booking

Tamper proof security & tracking seals

Vetted store partners

www.usebounce.com

Thousands of bags are being stored every month in NYC & SF

Bookings per month

January

February

March

April

May

Founded by serial entrepreneurs who've spent years living out of a suitcase

A team of serial founders who've built products for millions of users. More importantly, they adopt the Bounce "lifestyle" (minimalist, low-ownership, mobile).

Cody Candee

CEO

Built products for millions of users at Intuit & FactoryX. Techstars alum. Lived in 12 cities & lives out of 3 suitcases.

Aleksander Rendtslev

CTO

Full-stack engineer. Co-founded Reflectly to 50k users. Former CEO at Kare Media, a tech consultancy serving F500 brands.

intuit.

FACTORY X

